DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed 10/8/2004 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2), which requires a legible copy of each cited foreign patent document; each non-patent literature publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and all other information or that portion which caused it to be listed and 37 CFR 1.98(b)(5), which requires each publication listed in an information disclosure statement must be identified by publisher, author (if any), title, relevant pages of the publication, date (at least month and year), and place of publication (see attached 1449).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 2-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Descamps et al (6,865,256).

Consider claims 2-3, Descamps et al teach a method for determining the properties of a transmission channel (i.e., physical parameters) to qualifying for broadband services (see abstract) includes the steps of generating a plurality of pulses covering different frequency bands (corresponding to applying a time-discrete multicarrier transmit signal) (see col. 3 lines 54-60); detecting reflection or echoes at the same end of the channel (corresponding to measuring the echo pulse response $y(n)$ of the subscriber line at the test point) (see col. 3 line 66 – col. 4 line 2); and processing the echoes provided by these pulses at the same end of the channel to provide information about the line or channel (corresponding to determining second complex-value random coefficient and empirical estimate of cross-correlation function) (see col. 4 line 3 – col. 6 line 9).

Descamps et al did not clearly disclosed of various “claimed” mathematical theorems or formulas used to determine the parameters of the subscriber line. However, mathematical theorems and formulas are well known in the art of communications to used for calculating or estimating characteristic of loop or line. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary to apply known mathematical theorems such as those described in the claims to obtain similar results, mainly, the physical parameters of the subscriber line or channel in order to qualify the line for high speed or broadband services.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
